As the world emerges from the pandemic, economies are adopting new strategies to safeguard sustainability even as the business environment evolves with the proliferation of start-ups and digital assets. Governments are implementing ESG policies, and businesses are changing their business models to create sustainable value. In view of this, we anticipate that ISSB will introduce new ESG disclosure standards that will impact the measurement of enterprise value. As today's business environment evolves, valuers need to determine how ESG factors can be measured as intangible assets, and how to create other forms of intangible assets to impact enterprise value.

Asia Pacific's leading Business Valuation conference, the IVAS-IVSC Business Valuation Conference 2022, is themed, 'Navigating new frontiers to create sustainable value'. Join other thought leaders, policy makers, business leaders, legal professionals and Business Valuation professionals on this regional platform for insights on creating value against the backdrop of the pandemic and recent geo-political developments.

The conference is organised by the Institute of Valuers and Appraisers, Singapore (IVAS) in partnership with the International Valuation Standards Council (IVSC), and it is in its 6th edition this year.
